

i drive a truck over the road and it a very valuable service to be able to get instant traffic and weather information as i go down the road. local am or fm stations dont always give the information at the time i need it, but i can count on xm to delv the info i need. the ability to access instantly these services are a great advantage in in planning my trips and routes that i take to and from the cities that xm covers around the country.